A small-business market is on the calendar for Corpus Christi’s southside: Lazy Beach Brewing lists its Big Shop Small market for Saturday, Nov. 28, from 5 to 10 p.m. The event is scheduled for the brewery’s patio at 7522 Bichon Drive, Suite 100.

For shoppers, the listing offers a date, time and location—but not a vendor lineup. Lazy Beach has not named participating businesses on the event page, so visitors looking for a particular maker or product will need to check the organizer’s listing for updates rather than assume who will be there. The page also does not state an admission price or provide detailed event terms.

The market gives local businesses a way to ask about taking part. Lazy Beach says vendors can apply by emailing their contact information and photos of their creations. The listing says spots are available, but it does not guarantee that space will remain open. Businesses interested in applying can find the event details on Lazy Beach Brewing’s website.

The event is hosted by a brewery with a southside production location. Lazy Beach describes itself as a small Corpus Christi brewery and says it sold its first beer in June 2014. Its website says the brewery makes and packages its beer at the southside location. Those details provide some background on the host, while the event listing itself focuses on the market and vendor applications.

For neighbors planning an outing, the practical details are straightforward: Saturday evening, Nov. 28, 5–10 p.m., at 7522 Bichon Drive, Suite 100, Corpus Christi. Since the market is still upcoming and the listing does not give a vendor roster or admission information, checking the organizer’s page before setting out is a sensible way to look for any changes or added details.

The event is an opportunity to browse a market organized around small businesses, but its final mix of vendors is not yet specified in the available listing. Shoppers can use the event page to follow updates, while makers can review the stated application request and contact the organizer by email. The listing was available as of Nov. 2, 2026.
